PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Have you ever felt like someone needs help but didn't know how to start the conversation? Afraid you'll make things worse if you bring it up? You're not alone.

Many of us—even professionals—struggle to start these important conversations. Sometimes the pressure feels overwhelming, we're uncomfortable, or we just don't know how to help if something is wrong. This webinar is here to help you navigate those uncertainties.

We'll share practical tips for breaking the ice, approaching sensitive topics, and creating space for open dialogue. Learn how to tackle the conversations that matter most with confidence and empathy.
